ADDELESON UNABLE TO GET NEW BOND

Sammy Addeleson was still in the county jail today, unable to raise a new bond of $5000 after his bondsmen withdrew Saturday and turned him over to the sheriff.

Addeleson was convicted in the district court some time ago on a statutory charge and he later appealed the case to the supreme court of Utah. A decision is now being awaited. With his appeal a bond of $5000 was filed and Addeleson was released from custody.

Saturday Oscar Stromberg, one of the bondsmen, withdrew his name from the bond and Addeleson was placed in the county jail. With the action of Stromberg, Sam Gordon, another bondsmen, also withdrew.

Today Addeleson had failed to procure new bondsmen and was in the prisoners' tank of the county jail.

VIGILANCE

In the world of industry today the Manufacturer who successfully supplies a public need, must not only meet the severe test of quality with his product, but he must also be constantly alert to the demands of economy.

The fact that Segó Milk is used in the great majority of western households, argues well for the vigilance of the Segó Milk Products Company in its efforts to maintain both the high quality and the moderate cost of SEGO MILK. To almost every housewife in the west the name Segó signifies the milk of creamy richness and natural flavor that she uses in her daily cooking and for every purpose. Today as in the past, Segó continues to be the same choice milk of quality and purity.

UTAH CASES TO BE CONSIDERED

United States Supreme Court to Act on Contract Annulment

(Special Dispatch)
WASHINGTON, March 27.—The cases arising from the Utah Supreme court's decision that power company contracts may be annulled by the Utah public utilities commission today were presented to the supreme court and taken under advisement.

The cement companies of Utah and the Utah Idaho Central railroad contend that contracts entered into with the Utah Power & Light company prior to the establishment of the Utah utilities commission should stand.

Such contracts were annulled by action of the utilities commission and the companies were required to pay a higher rate for power than the rate designated in the contracts, the term of which was for ten years.

The Utah Supreme Court decided that the utilities commission could annul the contracts.

Now the highest court of the land is to pass upon the matter. J. A. Howell of Ogden was today admitted to practice before the United States supreme court on motion of Charles R. Hollingsworth, also of Ogden.

Mr. Howell represented the railroad company and Mr. Hollingsworth and H. H. Henderson the cement companies.

Forgives Wife Twice But She Quits Him Again

After George Pope had twice forgiven his wife for deserting him and she repaid his forgiveness by remaining away from home all night, the husband today filed suit for divorce in the district court against Margaret Pope.

Mr. Pope alleged they were married in Lintah on December 4, 1914, and in 1916, his wife abandoned him and went to California and remained there six months. She then went to Idaho with one Tony Lawrence, a doctor, and remained there eight months. Later she returned to his home and asked his forgiveness which he freely bestowed upon her.

During November, 1919, when he was ill in bed, Mr. Pope complains that his wife again left him and remained in Salt Lake for seven months. He again forgave her when she returned.

Last November the husband alleges that his wife left home and remained away all night and when he remonstrated the day following she cursed and swore and told him to get a divorce.

Mr. Pope asks that the court award him his freedom and custody of three minor children, born to a former wife.

LAST RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Ogden Business Man Says Overseas Travel to Pass All Records

Europe this summer promises to have former records shattered in the number of tourists who will visit the battlefields and other places of interest, according to J. H. E. Last, formerly of the firm of Last and Thomas of Ogden, who has just returned from a ten weeks' visit to England, Holland and France.

The Cook tourist agency alone has booked more than 300,000 tourists who plan to visit Europe. Mr. Last said, "and the great movement will begin within a month. During the winter, however, the tourist travel was light, the great army awaiting the warmer weather to begin their journey across the sea."

Mr. Last visited relatives in Holland and then made brief tours of England and France. He visited some of the battlefields.

Mr. Last was a passenger on the same steamer that carried Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Wright of Ogden to England on missions for the L. D. S. church. He and he left Mr. and Mrs. Wright at Liverpool.

France has shown a remarkable recovery from the war, Mr. Last said, and the cities there are almost as lively as before. Business is almost normal and prices have dropped to a level which compares well with those of the United States.

Mr. Last said he will now remain in Ogden, but will not engage in active business.
